SENATE O. K.'S PANAMA

TOLL BILL 47 TO 37

Twelve Democrats, including Stanley, Vote for, 17 Republicans Against It.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Despite the most solemn warnings that it was voting to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the Senate today passed the Borah bill exempting American coastwise shipping from payment of Panama Canal tolls. The vote was forty-seven yeas to thirty-seven nays.

The House, to which the measure now goes, will be the scene of the real battle over this proposed discrimination contrary to the treaty agreement to give the ships of all nations the use of the canal on equal terms.

In the House, however, the bill probably will be permitted to sleep until after the conclusion of the conference on the limitation of armaments in which the United States desires the support of Great Britain and other nations which protested in 1912 and are prepared to protest again against violation of the treaty.

Party Lines Obliterated
Party lines were completely obliterated and some curious political paradoxes were revealed in the final roll-call on the bill.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts, Republican leader, voted against the measure, notwithstanding the Republican platform declaration and President Warren G. Harding's warm approval of the free toll plank.

On the other hand, Senator Oscar Underwood, Democratic leader, registered his vote in favor of the bill.

The Republicans divided thirty-five in favor of the bill and seventeen against it. The Democrats cast twelve votes for the bill and twenty against it.

TO OPEN WEST POINT SECTION OF DIXIE HIGHWAY SUNDAY

Louisville, Oct. 7.—No mud puddles and impassable detours are to bother travelers of the Dixie Highway between Louisville and West Point this fall and winter. The new section of road on a fill two and one-quarter miles long under course of construction since August, 1920, has been completed and will be opened to traffic Sunday. It was announced by G. C. Appleton, resident engineer of the State Highway Department.

Known as Federal project No. 26 it is the first Federal-aid State highway completed in the county. The new stretch is of water-bound macadam, but after a year's wear will be covered with an asphalt surface extending beyond the ten and a quarter miles of asphalt surfaced road built by the State several years ago.

The fill is thirty-five feet in height in places, protected for its entire length by a rail. The sides of the fill will have stone riprap and honey suckle vines will be planted to prevent erosion. The new strip will be sprinkled Saturday night to be in proper shape when it will be opened to traffic Sunday.

A mile and a quarter of new road through West Point also has been completed and soon will be opened to the public. It connects with a road constructed by the Government through Camp Henry Knox.

SHULTZ-BIONDI

Miss Corinne Shultz, eldest daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Oona Shultz, of near Hartford, and Mr. Harold Murray Biondi, of Washington, D. C., were married at Alexandria, Va., on the 3rd inst.

We wish for the young couple the utmost happiness.

HEAVY LOSS WHEN OIL TRAIN BURNS

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 8.—Thirteen oil tank cars were overturned today seven miles south of this city, near Pryorsburg, Ky., and fire followed.

Extra freight number 1296 from Fulton over the Illinois Central with a cut of 26 crude oil and gasoline tanks and six cars of bananas left the rails at a sharp curve and sparks from the grinding brakes ignited one of the cars of crude oil which had been torn open by the spill.

Immediately the flames spread and in a few seconds a canopy of smoke overspread the sky and could be seen for miles around.

The cars of gasoline near the rear of the train were hauled away from the danger zone and the remaining cars of oil and bananas were dragged to safety by the wreckers.

Traffic over the division has been at a standstill all day, but reports from the superintendent's office at Fulton indicate that the debris will be cleared by midnight and that trains will run on regular schedule.

Fast Memphis to Louisville passenger train No. 102 was detoured by Cairo and Paducah, while Louisville to New Orleans limited No. 102 just escaped getting tied up by the wreckage.

The damage from the fire is put at $50,000, while the damage to rails and other equipment is heavy.

This city has practically been isolated since early this morning as a result of the accident.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY ATTEND PARLEY

London, Oct. 7.—A hint that Premier Lloyd George may yet be able to attend the forth-coming conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions in Washington was made in a semi-official statement to the press tonight. It was pointed out that the present position is that the British Premier has notified the American Government of his inability to attend but that this is not necessarily his last word.

It is generally regarded that the American Government is anxious for him to attend and it is understood that considerable influence is being brought to bear upon him to induce a reconsideration of his decision.

DRAINAGE BOARD MEETING

The County Board of Drainage Commissioners met at the office of Judge John B. Wilson Monday morning for the purpose of allowing claims for costs of various individuals in the suit of Roy Muffett, et al., Petition for Public Ditch. Bonds will be issued at an early date for the amount of the unpaid assessments against the landowners for construction of the ditch. The actual construction work has been begun, a dredge boat being used. This is the most extensive drainage project so far undertaken in Ohio County. It will cost over $70,000. All the members of the Board were present at the meeting, viz: S. T. Barnett, Chairman, Hartford; V. C. Hocker, Beaver Dam; Route 2, and J. A. Bellamy, Whitesville; Route 2. Treasurer C. O. Hunter, Engineer John B. Wilson, Attorney M. L. Heavrin and Secretary McDowell A. Fogle were also in attendance.

LOWELL OWEN

Lowell Owen, nineteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Owen, of Adaburg vicinity died Friday, Oct. 7th, at 8:20 p. m., of tuberculosis, after an illness of two years duration. In the fall of 1919 he spent several weeks in Hazelwood Sanitarium, Louisville, Ky., and for a time seemed better. However, he soon had a hemorrhage and has had them at intervals since. He had been bedfast more than a year previous to his death.

He was an ambitious and promising young man, a member of Mt. Moriah Methodist church and numbered his friends by those who knew him. He graduated from the Ohio County Common Schools in 1918 and would probably have sought a higher education had his illness not prevented.

Among immediate surviving relatives are his father and mother; two brothers, Eyan, married and living in the home community, and Walden at home; two sisters, Mrs. Olive Helm, wife of Mr. T. O. Helm, Adaburg vicinity, and Miss Opal Mae Owen, at home.

Funeral services were conducted at Mt. Moriah, Sunday at 11 a. m., by Rev. F. A. Sanders, of Centertown, after which the body was interred in the cemetery nearby.

BOARD OF STEWARDS MEET

A meeting of the Board of Stewards of the Hartford Charge, M. E. Church, South, was held on Monday night at the office of Judge W. H. Barnes, for the purpose of organization and making plans for the ensuing conference year. The Pastor, Rev. T. F. Frazier, who has been returned for another year, was present and outlined his plans and hopes for the year's work. He was pledged the hearty co-operation of every member of the board. The year just closed was a very successful one in every respect. The financial record was excellent, all assessments and claims having been met in full. Even better things are expected for the year 1921-22. It was decided to have a revival meeting at the Hartford Church sometime this fall or early in the winter. Definite announcement will be made later. The following officers were elected for the year: Chairman, W. H. Barnes; Secretary, E. H. Foster; Treasurer, A. C. Acton; Collectors, C. O. Hunter, W. J. Bean and E. H. Foster.

There are quite a number of applicants for this position.

RUSSELL-THOMAS

Mrs. N. E. Russell, of Rosine, and Mr. J. C. Thomas, of Chatham, Ill., were married at Fair & Co.'s store last Thursday afternoon. It was the groom's second matrimonial venture and the bride's third. That "All is fair in love and war" was long ago conceded true. And long ago some husbands swore that it must read "and marriage, too."

SAYS DEMOCRATS ARE STILL FOR LEAGUE

Cox, in Message to Western Group, Declares History Will Justify Their Stand

Dayton, O., Oct. 10.—The Democratic party stands "inflexibly as we did when the polls closed last November for the League of Nations, with the United States as a co-operative part of it," former Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential candidate last fall, declared in a message sent to the Democratic Club of Southern California, banqueting tonight at Los Angeles.

"History will record the abandonment of our Allies as an unworthy episode," the message continued. "It would have been no worse if our troops had been withdrawn from France the morning of the battle at Chateau-Thierry."

Mr. Cox's Message

The message follows: "Let me extend my felicitations to the members and guests of your organization. The events of the last year, notwithstanding they brought defeat at the polls, are heartening to the cause of Democracy. In the midst of chaos internationally, and uncertainty in Republican policy, we stand inflexibly as we did when the polls closed last November, for the League of Nations, with the United States as a co-operative part of it."

"It is infinitely better to maintain a vital principle even though it involve a temporary setback, than it is to surrender honor to expediency for the mere purpose of winning an election. History will record the abandonment of our Allies as an unworthy episode. It would have been no worse if our troops had been withdrawn from France on the morning of the battle of Chateau-Thierry."

"We Are Not Renegade Nation"

"The spectacle of regarding the Hay-Pauncefote treaty as a scrap of paper, just as we begin conference with a group of nations on disarmament, is a sad commentary on the behavior of a country whose life and traditions have been above reproach. Apparently the National Administration is guided in its non-deserting policies by the un-American elements that made its election possible. We are not a renegade nation and we will not for long permit ourselves so to appear to others. Good faith in our relations will endure as a private and a national virtue."

"When sober reflection brings proper understanding of our pathetic status in world affairs, vindication of the Democracy will be expressed in no misleading terms."

"JAMES M. COX."

WOMAN IS CANDIDATE FOR POLICE JUDGE

HARDING OUSTS SLATTERY; MOVE UNPRECEDENTED

First Time in Kentucky History
U. S. Attorney Not Permitted To Complete Term.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Thomas G. Slattery, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky, was removed from office today by President Harding on recommendation of Attorney-General Daugherty.

The reason for the removal was not disclosed by officials.

Sawyer Smith of Barbourville was nominated by the President as successor.

Action Unprecedented
Thomas D. Slattery, whose home is in Maysville, was appointed in 1914 to succeed Edwin P. Morrow, now Governor, who was permitted to serve out his full term. Mr. Slattery was reappointed by President Wilson in May, 1918, for a term of four years.

This is the first instance in the history of Kentucky when a Federal District Attorney was removed or who was not allowed to serve out his term. Attorney General Harry Daugherty repeatedly asked Mr. Slattery for his resignation, but the latter declined on the ground that he was entitled by law to serve out his four-year term. A threat to remove him followed unless he should hand in his resignation by a given time. This he ignored.

The only other Democratic District Attorney the State ever had before the Wilson administration was the late W. M. Smith, who served when Kentucky was a single Federal district. He was permitted by the McKinley administration to serve out his term. Similarly, Judge George DuRelle, who was District Attorney for the Western District under Roosevelt and Taft, was permitted to serve out his full term, although it did not expire until nearly a year after the Democratic administration took office.

Mr. Slattery was active in investigating frauds in the mountain counties after the 1920 election. Senator Richard P. Ernest, who obtained unprecedented majorities in the mountains, recommended Sawyer Smith of Barbourville as Mr. Slattery's successor, and his name probably will be sent to the Senate. —Louisville Times.

No Charges Filed

Covington, Ky., Oct. 6.—"I have not received any official notice of my removal," said Thomas G. Slattery, United States District Attorney today. "This information is the first news I have on the subject."

"Attorney General Daugherty has several times demanded my resignation as a matter of expediency. No charges have been filed against me, so far as I know, and I know of no ground for any complaint. I refused to resign, I told Mr. Daugherty because I believed that I had a right to serve out my term. I called attention to the fact that my predecessor, Governor Morrow, a Republican, had been permitted by President Wilson to serve out his term and even was permitted to stay in office beyond the expiration of the term."

CIRCUIT JUDGE RESIGNS

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 8.—B. J. Bethurum, of Somerset, for 12 years Judge of the Twenty-eighth Judicial District, composed of Pulaski, Rockcastle, Clinton and Wayne Counties, has resigned, and became legal advisor to Prohibition Director Samuel Collins.

A report that he would be designated to be Assistant Prohibition Director for Kentucky could not be verified. Director Collins said Judge Bethurum took the part of legal adviser only, and that the selection of an Assistant Director was in the hands of Commissioner Roy A. Haynes.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 8.—Boyd Morrow, of Somerset, was appointed by Governor Edwin P. Morrow to be Circuit Judge of the Twenty-eighth Judicial District to succeed Judge B. J. Bethurum. Judge Morrow is a brother of the Governor.

CAPITOL CULLINGS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—A separate peace treaty with Germany, which Senator Lodge said "would brand us with everlasting dishonor," a tax revision bill which Herbert Hoover's paper said was so complicated as to "make its construction more the work of a Philadelphia lawyer" and impossible to the average business man are dividing the attention of the Senate at this writing. Meanwhile, the Fordney Tariff bill, the economic joke of the age, is in a state of suspended animation.

The House continued to keep its feet on its desk under a three-day adjournment plan until Oct. 4.

In the matter of tax revision the Democrats will again strive to be helpful by introducing sweeping constructive amendments designed to remove class discriminations from the bill, and particularly its favoritism of huge corporations. Notice to this effect was served by Senator Simmons (N. C.), the ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, whose judgment it was "to strike out boldly on new lines instead of tinkering with and trying to repair a machine that was created to meet other circumstances and conditions." He denounced the bill in its present form as "the most horrible and unjust proposition of taxation that has ever been presented in this chamber."

Opposition to the bill in its present form is by no means confined to Democratic Senators. It is opposed by Republicans of the agricultural bloc, which includes many prominent middle-west Senators, just as it was opposed by many western Representatives in the House.

Aid for the Railroads and "Big Business"

With only two months of the extra session of Congress yet to run, it is predicted that the tax revision bill and the separate peace treaty will occupy about six weeks of the time, which augurs ill for the balance of the Administration's program, including the so-called Railroad Funding bill, a camouflaged title for a bill to loan the railroads $500,000,000 in addition to the $731,000,000 they now owe the Government.

The administration program also includes the bill for funding the foreign war loans, giving the Secretary of the Treasury blanket authority to do this in any way he may see fit.

There is little opposition to the Railroad bill compared with this measure for the handling of $11,000,000,000 by one man without restrictions of any kind. Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader, and Senator McKellar (Dem., Tenn.), one of the most brilliant debaters in the Senate, have already exposed the sinister and dangerous character of such a measure, which will have practically unanimous opposition of Democratic Senators and strong opposition from the Republican side.

Under this bill Congress is asked to relinquish all authority over the funding of these loans, and to transfer it to the Secretary of the Treasury. Some who favor this transfer of authority accompany it with the impudent assertion that it is only necessary for the funding methods to have the approval of the great financial interests.

Democrats Apparently Divided on German Peace Treaty

That there will be no organized Democratic opposition to the ratification of a separate peace treaty seems likely at this writing. The prevailing impression is that Democratic Senators will use their individual judgment in voting for or against the treaty.

The theory that the country wants an official peace status, and they will be willing to let the administration continue to attempt the making of peace in its own way; also for the reason that ratification of a part of the Versailles Treaty is a step toward the acceptance of that treaty as a whole.

Those who will vote against it will do so for reasons epitomized in the brilliant and cutting epigram of Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, that it is "an ignominious and inglorious postscript to American war history."

The principal argument, aside from Senator Williams' illuminating speech, made against the ratification of the treaty so far has been by Senator Borah, to whom the Versailles Treaty alone is more objectionable than it was when linked with the League of Nations.

However, as a bitter-ender, Senator Borah now stands almost alone.

The Tariff Muddle

The Fordney Tariff bill, like the coffin of Mohammed, is now suspended between heaven and earth.

Before the recess of Congress the Republicans were insisting that it must be passed quickly in order to "save the country." Upon their return, after commingling with their constituents, Congressmen began to have doubts as to the necessity of any hurried action. Some of them thought it would be just as well to let the bill go over to the next session, and others had doubts as to whether any tariff bill should be passed at all. They had heard from the country. They had learned during their recess that their efforts to fool the people with a hodge-podge piece of guess work like the Fordney tariff bill had not fooled anybody. They learned what almost everybody else already knew that they could not erect a tariff wall around this country and expect to continue foreign trade or expect the debtor nations of Europe to pay interest or any part thereof upon their war debts to this country.

President Harding, who advocated a high protective tariff throughout his election campaign, and in many of his public addresses since, has also received enlightenment, and, according to the public press, "President Harding now believes there is no need for a permanent tariff legislation at this session."

In no other respect has the administration, both in the executive and legislative branches, shown its incompetence in handling an economic matter as in its proposed tariff legislation. It was not, however, until business and banking interests and agriculturists lifted a chorus of protest against the Republican tariff plan, not to mention many leading Republicans in both houses of Congress, that any heed was paid by the reactionary element which rules in the House and in the Senate. Now they are back at the beginning, apparently without any definite idea what to do about the tariff.

"Strong Arm" Enforcement of the Spoils System

The extent to which this administration apparently will go in enforcing the spoils system is illustrated by the removal by President Harding of I. C. Thoresen, United States Surveyor General for Utah. President Harding's letter of removal, dated Sept. 19, said:

"You are hereby removed from the office of Surveyor General of Utah, to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of your successor."

Prior to this President Harding had written to Mr. Thoresen suggesting his resignation, and saying among other things, "I need not tell you of the current demand for the recognition of aspirants within our own party for consideration in the matter of patronage." In other words, the Republicans wanted and needed the job.

Mr. Thoresen replied, explaining that the term for which he was appointed had not yet ended, and that he was the first and only person who had been requested to resign without being accused of neglect of duty. He did not understand how "the plans and policies of the administration," to which Mr. Harding had referred in his letter, could in any way change or modify the form of duties of a Surveyor General.

Then came the application of "the strong arm" in the form of the letter of removal and the appointment of one E. D. Sorensen.

That this administration is to return to the spoils system, which has been the policy of all other Republican reactionary administrations, causes no surprise to Democrats, but already a note of protest is heard in the Republican press. The New York Tribune of Sept. 26, says of the Thoresen case:

"The Thoresen argument is strong. A time will come when some President will respect the rule that offices, administrative in fact, are not spoils. We wish President Harding would seize the opportunity to distinguish himself. Unless Sorensen is obviously the best man, or there are other reasons not yet divulged, it looks as if some of the President's advisers on political appointments had shown unnecessary zeal in their search for positions for deserving Republicans."

Republican Congressman Scores Tax Shifting Bill

The following extract from the speech of Representative Edward Voigt (Rep., Wis.), who, with forty-nine other Republicans, voted to recommit the tax revision bill in the House, is fairly representative of the sentiment of Republicans in many parts of the United States, especially in the West:

"Now, then, we have the enormous war debt, and for the present at least we must raise at least four billions a year to keep the Government going and that raises the question. How should this money be collected? In fairness to all the people of this country, who should pay? I recognize but one principal way to collect taxes, and that is to make every man pay according to his ability, and that ability can best be measured by his net income. Of course, we derive some revenue from the tariff, and minor amounts from other sources, the collection of which may be proper and expedient, but what I mean to say is that in my judgment there is only one fair way for the Government to raise the bulk of its revenue, and that is by a properly graded income tax. Let him pay who makes the money, and the more he makes the higher should be his tax.

"The bill before us does not meet these requirements, and therefore I am going to vote against it. I cannot vote for a bill which appears to me to be unfair to the great mass of the American people. This bill lifts the burden from the very rich individuals and corporations and gives no corresponding benefit to those less favorably situated. In fact, when the total burden imposed by this bill is considered, the proportion of the whole tax to be paid by the less wealthy is actually increased. Of course, the bill is hailed with joy by Big Business, by the trusts, and the millionaires and multimillionaires."

THOROUGHBRED INTERESTS ATTACKED

Helm Bruce, Former Attorney for St. Louis Bucket Shop Syndicate Seeks to Destroy Racing

REPEAL OF THE PRESENT LAW MEANS THE RETURN OF THE BANISHED BOOK MAKERS TO KENTUCKY

The Kentucky Jockey Club Pays Over $300,000 Yearly In Taxes Into the State Treasury.

(The Thoroughbred Record.)

Kentucky is the home of the thoroughbred. It is the nursery of the finest breed of horses the world has produced. An infusion of thoroughbred blood enriches every other strain and gives quality, speed and courage to the colder breeds. Hundreds of thousands of acres are devoted to the raising of thoroughbreds in this State, and millions of dollars are invested in the industry.

At the coming session of the Legislature an organized effort will be made to destroy the thoroughbred interest, lay waste the fertile pastures, now valued at from $500 to $1,000 an acre, upon which they graze and reduce the peerless Man O'War, for whom $500,000 has been refused, to the worth of a plow horse.

Under the old book-making system which Mr. Bruce sought to perpetuate for his clients, the State did not receive a dollar; under the present law the Kentucky Jockey Club pays yearly into the State Treasury over $300,000. If Mr. Bruce succeeds in destroying the thoroughbred interest this immense sum will be entirely lost to the State and the book-makers will return to prey on the public.

The leader of this destructive crusade, falsely put forth as a moral issue, is Helm Bruce, a Louisville lawyer, who, nursing a personal grievance, and in grateful remembrance of his former race track clients, Cella, Tilles and Adler, the St. Louis bucket shop gamblers, seeks to prohibit all racing in Kentucky. When the Racing Commission was created by an act of the Legislature and the turf in this State was taken out of the hands of the book-makers who had dishonored a royal sport, Helm Bruce, took a fee from this syndicate of bucket shop owners and sought to have the law declared unconstitutional. He was defeated in his selfish purpose and now that the scandal breeding book-maker has been driven out, and the turf is prospering under the pari-mutuel system, with the leading horsemen of Kentucky, selected by the Governor, giving their time to the enforcement of the law, Mr. Bruce seeks to destroy the entire turf structure and carry with it the whole thoroughbred interests of Kentucky.

Desha Breckenridge, editor of the Lexington Herald, has defended racing, as now conducted under the State Commission, and in a series of frank and forceful editorials he has exposed the inconsistency of Helm Bruce, once an attorney for the book-makers, and now advocating the destruction of the pari-mutuels which would open the way for the return of Mr. Bruce's former clients to Kentucky.

Mr. Bruce pleads ignorance of the character of his clients or their selfish interest in the following statement to Mr. Breckenridge:

"A number of statements are made as to my knowing that certain alleged conditions, in connection with racing, formerly existed, such as that race tracks were controlled by bookmakers, and that bookmakers retained twenty to thirty per cent, and that all sorts of malpractices were committed under this system. The fact is I know none of these things.

It is said that I know that Cella, Tilles and Adler, of St. Louis, owned Latonia and Douglas Park, and it is said they ran bucket shops and race tracks in various sections of the country. I recall that Cella had an interest in the Douglas Park Jockey Club, whether or not the other persons mentioned had any interest in it or not, I do not know; and whether or not they ran bucket shops in other parts of the country, I do not know. It is said that I know these things because I was an attorney in a suit instituted against the State Racing Commission seeking to have the act creating that Commission declared unconstitutional. It is entirely true that I was an attorney for the Douglas Park Jockey Club in a suit brought to test the constitutionality of that act, but it is not at all true that I learned in that case, or otherwise, any of the facts stated in the editorial as to gambling conditions on the race tracks."

Mr. Breckenridge makes the following reply:

"Mr. Bruce knew that Cella, Tilles and Adler, who ran bucketshops and race tracks in various sections of the country, controlled Latonia and Douglas Park; that there was a syndicate books on all the tracks controlled by them; that racing in Kentucky was in a deplorable condition; that the meetings were long, and under the syndicate system of bookmaking every sort of rascality was committed.

Mr. Bruce states: 'I knew none of these things.'

"We avow that all statements made by us are true; that all intelligent men connected with racing or interested in racing know them to be true; that the facts were published in the daily newspapers, and that in the discussion in regard to the enactment of the bill creating the State Racing Commission were alleged and not denied. But we accept at its face value Mr. Bruce's statement: 'I know none of these things.'

"Mr. Bruce does recall that Cella had an interest in the Douglas Park Jockey Club. It is interesting to know that this much of what was general knowledge percolated through the atmosphere of sweet innocence that surrounded Mr. Bruce. If he had then had the slightest interest in the preservation of racing, either as a sport or as an aid to the breeding of horses or as a destructive agency of all that is good and noble, it seems to our mundane intelligence he would have informed himself as to the controlling factors in racing and certainly as to the personnel of his clients.

It has been a long time since the State Racing Commission was created and the effort made by the owners of Douglas Park and Latonia—Cella, Tilles and Adler—to have that act declared unconstitutional. Mr. Bruce makes a very plausible statement of the basis of that suit, but a statement that in our opinion is entirely misleading.

The act creating the State Racing Commission was drawn as a result of a meeting held in our office in the old Herald building, and as we recall attended by Thos. C. McDowell, Catesby Woodford, Johnson N. Camden, Charles McMeekin, Jouett Shouse, then editor of the Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, and Hal P. Hendley. No man connected with Churchill Downs was invited to the meeting nor advised of its purpose. John T. Shelby and John R. Allen were engaged to draw the act which was supported by all the breeders of the State, and passed by a practically unanimous vote of both houses of the Legislature.

The purpose of the act was to prevent a continuation of such conditions as were incident to the ownership of race tracks by Mr. Bruce's clients. It provided:

"The said commission shall have the power to prescribe the rules, regulations and conditions under which running races shall be conducted in this State."

Cella, Tilles and Adler had control of the Latonia track and of Douglas Park. Regardless of the interests of racing, they had purchased Douglas Park and revealed their purpose to have conflicting dates with Churchill Downs and to conduct long meetings, as they did in Missouri. Mr. Bruce apparently attempts to put the basis of the suit in which he tried to have the State Racing Commission declared unconstitutional on the ground that the State Racing Commission was created to kill Douglas Park.

We avow that it was the desire of all the men connected with the movement to have a State Racing Commission to remedy such conditions as existed at every track under the control of Mr. Bruce's clients. We were then—as we are now—opposed to a bucket-shop bookmaking combination controlling race tracks in Kentucky; we were opposed then, as we are now, to a syndicate book robbing the public and framing up races.

It is provided in the act that Mr. Bruce's clients tried to have declared unconstitutional:

"Provided, That a refusal of the commission to grant any racing association a license or to assign any racing association at least forty days, if desired, shall be subject to the review of the courts of the State."

But Cella, Tilles and Adler were not satisfied with this provision. They wanted the whole act declared unconstitutional, for that act—though it may not be known to Mr. Bruce, who knows so little, as revealed in his communication today—provides:

"Said commission shall have the power to prescribe the rules, regulations and conditions under which running races shall be conducted in this State."

Under that provision the State Racing Commission has the power to prohibit bookmaking on its tracks and it has exercised and enforced that power, which was never done before its creation.

Mr. Bruce may not know it, but we believe it to be a fact that the chief reason his known client, Cella and his actual clients, Cella's associates, wanted the act declared unconstitutional was that it made possible the destruction of their syndicate book.

We do not say that Mr. Bruce knows it, because after his statement we fear to state that he knows even the most widely known fact, but according to the grand jury of Jefferson County it is a fact "that a vast number of handbooks are being operated in the city of Louisville."

We have not heard of any movement by Mr. Bruce to stop these handbooks.

If Mr. Bruce had succeeded in the suit to declare unconstitutional the act creating the State Racing Commission there would be books on the race tracks as well as handbooks in the city. The law now prohibits handbooks in the city. But they exist in the city of Louisville. Yet Mr. Bruce starts a campaign against "legalized betting" and so far as we know takes no action against the illegal betting that is, in our opinion, infinitely the greater evil, which is rampant in his own home town.

In the communication published this morning, Mr. Bruce says:

"I have never pretended to make any accurate statement of what are the total profits of the Jockey Club, because I do not know them."

In a statement by him sent through the Associated Press from Louisville September 17, he says:

"A legalized giant monopoly enjoying the gambling privileges realizes a profit of two or three million of dollars a year out of this demoralizing vice."

Again we apologize for having stated in a previous editorial that Mr. Bruce knows this statement is inaccurate. But we avow that it is inaccurate and utterly misleading and known to be inaccurate by every man and woman who has even cursory information in regard to the purses and stakes given by the Jockey Club, the expenses incident to the conduct of racing and the taxes paid by the Jockey Club.

Mr. Bruce closes his communication with this statement:

"Pari-mutuel betting on the race tracks may be a safer form of betting than bookmaking—safer for the gambler—but I am not interested in protecting the gambler."

Who is it Mr. Bruce is interested in protecting? As a lawyer he was interested in forwarding the interests of Cella, Tilles and Adler, who, though of course he never knew it, conducted bucket-shops and syndicate books. The present movement fostered by him will insure to the benefit of the bookmaker and handbook men, though equally of course he does not know this. As proven by the result in New York, the success of the movement he advocates will lead to a form of gambling that is most pernicious and as a rule crooked.

As revealed by the report of the grand jury in Louisville, the handbooks flourish even in the rarified atmosphere that surrounds Mr. Bruce.

Not interested in protecting the gambler? Of course not. Not interested in the personnel of his clients who employed his services to destroy the State Racing Commission so that they might run race tracks in Kentucky as they ran them in Missouri—solely for the benefit of the syndicate book? Not interested in protecting the breeding interests? What is Mr. Bruce's real interest?

His letter reveals, according to his own statements, that Mr. Bruce has never been interested enough to ascertain even the most widely known facts in regard to racing and that he knows no more about it now than he knew when he was the attorney for Douglas Park and the bucket-shop bookmaking aggregation that owned it.

Why is Mr. Bruce giving his time and his high ability and great reputation and his money to this fight to have repealed the provision in the Kentucky statutes that was passed April 8th, 1893, years before he appeared as the attorney for the Douglas Park Jockey Club? He did not then attempt to have that section of the statutes repealed. The act creating the State Racing Commission was passed in 1906. The provision under which pari-mutuels are permitted was passed in 1893, thirteen years before that. During those years the bookmakers operated as unmolested on the race tracks as they now operate in Louisville and will again operate on the race tracks if Mr. Bruce succeeds in his present efforts.

Every man familiar with racing knows that racing has been cleaner and on a higher plane; that the stakes and purses are four or five hundred per cent greater since the bookmakers were driven from the tracks. But Mr. Bruce "is not interested in protecting the gamblers" nor the horsemen nor the breeders nor the financial interests of the State, nor in driving out the handbooks in Louisville.

MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD
RETIRE AFTER 36 YEARS
SERVICE IN U. S. ARMY

Washington, Oct. 5.—Major General Leonard Wood retired to-day from active service in the army to accept appointment as governor-general of the Philippine Islands, thus terminating voluntarily more than thirty-six years of distinguished military life. His retirement was caused by insistence of administration officials that he accept the new post and the refusal of congress to permit him to do so while continuing his active army status.

In announcing the general's retirement, Secretary Weeks said he soon would select a vice governor for the islands and expected immediately to commission General Wood to duty as governor-general. He announced also that nominations would be forwarded to congress without delay promoting Brig. Gen. Charles J. Bailey, commanding the Second Coast artillery district, to fill the vacancy caused by General Wood's retirement.

General Wood began his army career as a contract surgeon in June, 1855, immediately entering service with troops in the Apache campaign in Arizona and Northern Mexico. As commander of an infantry detachment in that campaign he was commended "for gallant and hazardous service, courage and energy," and later was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest compliment the nation has to give, for distinguished conduct in the Apache fighting.

Commanded Rough Riders

When the Indians were pacified and their leader Geronimo taken, the surgeon dropped the fighting weapons, temporarily and again returned to the practice of medicine and surgery at army headquarters in Arizona. He continued in army medical service until 1898, but when the Spanish-American war was declared in that year he re-entered combat ranks, organized and commanded the First United States cavalry (Rough Riders) and later was transferred to command the Second brigade, cavalry division, in the Cuban campaign, in which activity he entered the fight at Las Guadaluas and San Juan, Santiago.

When the Spanish forces surrendered, the general was appointed military governor of Santiago, commander of the department of Santiago and civil governor of that province and military governor of the island of Cuba. He turned the government of the island over to Tomas E. Palma, first president of the republic of Cuba, in 1902 and returned to the United States.

About a year later he was ordered to proceed to the Philippines as commander of the department of Mindanao. He also served as civil governor of the Moro province and in other administrative work until 1908.

Record in World War

His record in the World war with his assignment to select for the war department the sites of the great majority of the training camps for national guard and national army troops in the southeastern department which he then commanded. Later he was assigned to Camp Funston, Kansas, to organize the Eighty-ninth division. With other divisional officers he went on preparatory inspection trip to France while the American army was in the making and was injured there by the bursting of a French gun.

On his return to the United States General Wood completed the training of the Eighty-ninth for battle, but got no chance to serve with it abroad as he was relieved on the even of embarkation, precipitating a controversy that raged in the press for months, even during General Wood's campaign for the Republican nomination for the presidency.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Financial inability to reduce freight rates was pleaded by the railroad witnesses appearing to-day at hearings before the Interstate Commerce commission to oppose application of Eastern, Southern and Northern hardwood producers for general reduction of tariffs on their products.

F. A. Burke, representing the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, said that its operating expenses in recent months had amounted to 1.03 per cent. of its income, without regarding its investment charges and despite the deferring of its maintenance work.

The Hartford Republican's dastardly attempt in its last issue to deceive the people of Ohio County into thinking that the Herald is "lending encouragement to bootleggers and moonshiners" is so silly as to hardly deserve attention. The record of this paper and of its editors and managers is an open book and no man can truthfully say that it and they have not always stood foursquare for efficient enforcement of the law. Not a line of the editorial which our contemporary criticises can, by the greatest stretch of the imagination, be construed as an encouragement of lawlessness. In fact we explicitly condemned lawbreakers and lawbreaking in all forms. But we are unalterably opposed to the prostitution of sentiments of good citizenship, looking toward law enforcement, to partisan ends. Democracy stands for law and order; it also stands for decency and fairness. We are in favor of punishing miscreants all during the year, not merely just before the election. And we reiterate that we believe in co-operation of citizen and officer. Our judicial and peace officers are, in most cases, no doubt, personally well-intentioned, but if the system which they represent does not get results, they must bear some of the blame. The Republican says lawlessness is rampant in Ohio County. Who is to blame? What is wrong when communities have to have "law and order" meetings to devise ways and means of curbing the criminal element? It's the Macedonian cry from citizen to officer instead of the other way round, as our friend up the street would have the public believe.

The Hartford Republican solemnly assured its readers last week that, from its point of view, the chief and proper purpose of a political party's success is the perfection of a machine to fight the opposing party or parties. It has been apparent to all fair-minded observers of the present County Administration that there must be some other reason for its existence than public service, but we had not expected such an open confession of its paramount political and partisan purpose. As for us, we are espousing the cause of a ticket which has nobler and more useful purposes. Yes, we admit that our platform is Democracy, but it is not branded with the stamp of narrow partisanship or party loyalty. The ticket we are offering for the suffrage of the progressive men and women of Ohio County stands for "true Democracy" which means the best interests of all the people all the time.

Didn't ye editor of the Republican give us an annihilating broadside last week apropos of Judge Slack's "wonderful" record. Another Democratic paper,—total to date, two,—expresses approval of a single isolated decision! Why, of course. We are all right sometimes. But what does his record in the aggregate show? More than forty-five percent of his decisions have been reversed by the Court of Appeals. When it is considered that in suits for the recovery of money or personal property of the value of less than $500 an appeal to the appellate court cannot be taken as a matter of right, it will be apparent that His Honor has probably been wrong as often as right. Any layman ought to be able to "guess right" on matters with which he is familiar, at least half the time. "Pitching up, wet or dry," would result in as good a record.

The Hartford Republican and its magisterial assistant political editor are as silent as the tomb when it comes to county affairs. Bad roads, high taxes, salary grabs and fiscal extravagance, liquid and otherwise don't interest them. Their idea of the duty of their followers seems to be blind subservience to the political principal of "yellow doggism."

Just for Once

"My goodness, Henry!" ejaculated the wife of a man who always had decided opinions and was not averse to expressing them. "I don't know what would happen if you'd ever agree with me about anything."

"Well," said Henry, "I guess I'd have to admit being wrong for once."

Her Objection

"Do you like the modern dances," he asked.

"No," the maiden replied primly. "I consider them only hugging set to music."

"And you dislike—"

"I never had any ear for music."

Negro Voters Declare For Their Second Emancipation

Jesse B. Colbert, chairman of the Campaign Committee of the Lincoln Independent party, in his address before the convention which nominated the Lincoln ticket, told why the negroes have determined to break away from slavery to the Republican party and form an independent party. He said in part:

Follow Citizens: We have gathered here tonight to launch an independent movement, which is destined to liberate millions of colored fellow citizens from the thralldom of political slavery.

Why An Independent Political Party?

First, because it is the constitutional right of all free American citizens to organize and support any party which they believe comes nearest their ideal of good citizenship. The fundamental principles of the Lincoln Independent party are in perfect harmony with the principles that actuated the founders of our commonwealth, that precipitated the revolutionary war. They believed then, as we believe now, that "taxation without representation is tyranny."

Whenever any political party grows so arrogant and autocratic as to totally disregard the wishes of 40,000 American citizens, as the local Republican machine has done in Louisville when they rejected a member of our race in the Tenth ward, who is in every respect prepared to represent us, and foisted upon us a white man totally unknown to nine-tenths of the citizens whom he is supposed to represent, simply because he happens to have a white skin, it is an insult to every self-respecting negro in the city of Louisville and the State of Kentucky, and we propose to resent it in a most emphatic way on the day of election by electing men of our race to represent us, who alone can do so in the spirit of justice and fair play.

No More Blind Voting

We cease from now on to allow ourselves to be the cat's paw for the Republican machine in Louisville, or any other political machine. By our slavish worship of the Log Cabin the Republican party has grown bold to believe that we are nothing more than political slaves—to go and come at their command, and vote the straight Republican ticket, regardless of whom the ticket is composed. In fact, it is not our business to inquire or look for the names of the candidates, but simply to look for the Log Cabin and stamp under that and ask no questions. This condition has placed us in a very unenviable attitude, to the extent we are owned by the Republican party and hated by the Democratic party, simply because we have blindly opposed the Democratic party at every point. The very name "Democrat" has, consciously or unconsciously, fallen into disrepute with the average colored person on account of the false and erroneous teachings of the professional politicians of the Republican party. We rejoice in the manifest change in the minds of the more intelligent colored people. They are recognizing their friends, not by the reflections of lifeless emblems but by the warm pulsating hearts of living personalities, regardless of race, creed, or religion.

Second Emancipation

We regard the organization of the Independent Lincoln party as the greatest step taken by the colored people in Louisville for political freedom since their emancipation. In fact it is nothing more or less than our second emancipation, one that is destined to make us free indeed, for it will give us the power of autonomy, which is the right of all free men. The Lincoln Independent party will enable us to say frankly to both dominant political parties that whichever party will give us justice will be the party that will get our support, and none other need apply, it matters not what may be the emblem or traditional training. We are living in the present, pregnant with the most hopeful signs of a larger freedom and a fuller life, and not in the dead past, with its reactionary tendencies and antiquated ideas.

The Bible tells us "without a vision, people perish." What we need today more than anything else as a race is a leadership of a larger vision, a leadership of conviction and the courage to assert those convictions. There is a growing sign of an awakening consciousness among the colored people to demand a larger share of their constitutional rights and an absolute equality of opportunity in the pursuit of life, liberty and happiness. We will not rest until these are fully realized and enjoyed by every member of the race.

The Lincoln Independent party is but the beginning of a nation-wide movement. Now is the psychological moment for the colored people to rise in the majesty of their political rights and break the shackles of the political slavery which has bound them for the past fifty years and demand that the men who are to be our political leaders, shall not be professional crap-shooters, gamblers and bootleggers, but men of character and intelligence—be they white or colored.

The Independent party will compel whatever party is in power to recognize the independent black vote and in a way that they have never been recognized before. Through the Independent party the colored people will be the beneficiaries, it matters not what party wins the election. We will have more respect and consideration from both the dominant parties after November 8, 1921, than ever before in our history. From tonight, God helping us, we cease to be the private property of any political party, but will contend for every right guaranteed to us under the constitution. We are intelligent enough to know our rights and have courage enough to demand them.

JAPANESE RULER SERIOUSLY ILL

Is Very Weak Physically and Mentally, Says Official Report

Tokio, Oct. 8.—Emperor Yoshihito, whose illness has been causing alarm in Japan, is said to be worse in an official statement issued here. It is declared his condition is most unsatisfactory.

At the imperial household it is explained that the emperor's physical and mental condition has become aggravated. The difficulty he has experienced in walking and holding conversation has been augmented, while his memory and capacity for attention have declined. There are signs that he has been suffering from a disease of the brain and it is recalled that during his infancy he was seriously ill, his malady recurring after he attained his majority. Since the coronation he has gradually weakened in mind and body.

The official statement concluded by saying that the growing volume of domestic and international business was placing an increased demand upon the time of the emperor and compelled the issuance of a formal statement.

FARMER'S WIFE WALKS 5,710 MILES

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Expenditure of $18 for lead pipe and the labor of laying it has lightened the lot of a certain Lawrence County farm woman, 65 years old. In the 50 years she had lived on this farm, say rural engineers of the Ohio State University, this woman walked 5,710 miles and carried over 2,000 tons of water.

These facts are among the most striking of a convenience survey just concluded by state extension workers in Lawrence and in other river counties. At the farm under discussion they found a well 140 feet from the house and six feet below it. For a full half century this woman had been making, she said, an average of six trips a day, sometimes lugging a bucket of water weighing 30 pounds and sometimes two.

At each such farm the surveyors took levels and made estimates on the cost of installing running water. In this case all that was necessary was to lay the pipe, and to move the old pump up from the well to within the kitchen.

And After That?

"All men," cried the optimist, "are born free and equal."

"Yes," growled the pessimist, "but most of them get married when they are about twenty-five or so."

So That's That

A woman's dress, from hat to sole. From lingerie to locket. Should always make a perfect whole. And does—in hubby's pocket.

Details Not Specified

DEMOCRATS MAKE REGISTRATION GAINS ALL OVER STATE

Republican Plurality in Louisville Is Cut to 2,477 Votes

Louisville, Oct. 6.—Registration of voters in Louisville Tuesday and Wednesday totaled approximately 125,505, breaking all records, and exceeding by 12,584 the official registration in 1920.

The registration was: Republicans, 57,876; Democrats, 55,399; Independents, 12,230.

The Republican plurality of 8,535 over the Democrats in 1920 was cut to 2,477 this year, unofficial figures show.

The Independent vote, the largest ever registered in Louisville, may decide the election, the registration figures indicate. Independents registered 10,895 last year.

Democrats this year showed a gain of 8,698 over their registration in 1920. Republicans increased their 1920 registration by 2,640.

In Other Cities

Registration figures in other cities of the State for the two days gave: Bowling Green, Democratic plurality, 1,384. Last year's plurality, 674.

Hopkinsville, Republican plurality 2. Last year's plurality, 206.

Winchester, Democratic plurality, 595.

Madisonville, Democratic plurality, 249; last year's majority, 86.

Maysville, Democratic plurality, 150; last year's Republican majority, 24.

Nicholasville, Democratic plurality, 210; last year's plurality, 138.

Princeton, Democratic plurality, 53; last year's plurality, 45.

Owensboro Plurality Is Increased By 462

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 6.—That Owensboro will be overwhelmingly Democratic when the polls close Tuesday afternoon, November 8, is indicated by registration figures which show that there are 1,388 more Democrats than Republicans registered. A total of 8,291 voters registered. Of this number 4,603 Democrats, 3,515 Republicans and 173 Independents. There are fully 200 more Democrats who failed to register. Of these many were out of the city and others will have excuses which will entitle them to register before the County Clerk at the supplemental registration to be held the first three days preceding the election. This it is believed will give the Democrats a majority over the Republicans in Owensboro of at least 1,200.

Last year the first day's registration was as follows: Democrats 4,302; Republicans 4,245; Independents 200; Democratic majority of 557. The total registration last year was 5,009 Democrats; 4,347 Republicans and 204 Independents, a Democratic majority of 662. The Democrats lost 629 votes Tuesday as compared with the first day last year and the Republicans lost 754 votes. The Republicans were very much disappointed with the result of the registration as they had expected to make a better showing. Chairman Brady of the Republican Campaign Committee had nothing to give out today.

PROMINENT AMERICAN DIES AT FRENCH VILLA

Nice, France, Oct. 6.—Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Maryland, who played a prominent part in American Red Cross work in Italy during the war, died suddenly today in the garden of his villa at Mentone, near here.

Mr. Carroll, whose death was reported today from Nice, was a direct descendant of Charles Carroll, noted Colonial political leader, who was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

17 ARE DEAD AFTER PARIS TRAIN CRASH; 100 OTHERS INJURED

Paris, Oct. 6.—Reports received by the authorities, of the loss of life in yesterday's collision between two suburban trains, in the tunnel leading to the St. Lazare railroad station showed that 17 persons are dead. Of these 15 were killed or burned to death in the cars which caught fire following the collision, and two died in hospitals. Newspaper reports indicate that about 100 were injured.

NINE MOROS KILLED IN PHILIPPINE FIGHT

Manila, P. I., Oct. 8.—Nine Moros were killed in a fight at Kulaykulay, Sulu province, between thirty Moros and a detachment of the Philippine constabulary numbering sixteen men, headed by Governor Carl Moore, of Sulu province, according to an official dispatch received at constabulary headquarters today.

OFFICERS NAMED BY WAR MOTHERS

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 7.—The Kentucky War Mothers in third annual session here Thursday elected officers as follows: State War Mother, Mrs. J. F. Knowlen, Winchester; First Vice War Mother, Mrs. William Dowell Oldham, Lexington; Second Vice War Mother, Mrs. Bowen Henry, Frankfort; Treasurer, Mrs. Gus L. Hayman, Lexington; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Abner Oldham, Winchester; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Luo Rogers, Paris, and First Auditor, Mrs. Peter Campbell, Louisville.

The organization endorsed the proposed adjusted compensation bill, which has the backing of the American Legion, and the proposed memorial bridge over the Kentucky River here at the foot of Capitol Avenue. Emmet O'Neal, Louisville, at the afternoon session advocated adjusted compensation, reform in immigration and regulation and education as a means of propagating sane Americanism.

LANDSLIDE IS SEEN FOR DEMOCRATIC TICKET IN NOVEMBER ELECTION

The Republicans of Owensboro awoke Wednesday morning, dazed from the smashing victory of the Democrats in the registration in Owensboro on Tuesday. The lead of 1,088 votes given the Democrats in the registration has taken the last breeze from the Republican sails. The G. O. P. leaders had sent the word to the rural districts that they would sweep Owensboro. Instead of "sweeping Owensboro," the Republicans were snowed under by the greatest plurality ever given the Democrats. The Republicans showed a loss of more than 700 vote over last year.

Not only did the Republicans show reversals in Owensboro, but from practically every city in Kentucky where registration was held on Tuesday Republican losses were recorded. Veteran politicians say there is no question but what there will be a Democratic landslide all over Kentucky in November.

Damned by Records

The record of the Harding administration, in addition to the record made by Governor Morrow, has turned thousands of Republicans in Kentucky to the Democratic ticket, and has served to unite every faction in the Democratic party. The unemployment situation, the killing of the soldier bonus at the demand of President Harding and the broken promises by the Morrow administration, have made Republican chances of success hopeless.

It is also pointed out that the tickets named by the Democrats in the county and districts are ones that appeal to the great mass of men and women voters.—Owensboro Messenger.

INFORMATION FROM THE EXPERIMENT STATION — AGRICULTURAL PAPERS AND THE COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

Many Farmers To Use Picric Acid

Farmers over the entire United States are showing an unusual interest in picric acid, the war salvage explosive made available for land clearing purposes, more than 1,000,000 pounds of the material or about 52 cars already having been ordered through agricultural colleges by farmers in 28 states, according to George R. Boyd, senior drainage engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture who recently visited the College of Agriculture at Lexington to assist with the plans for distributing Kentucky's share of the explosive to farmers of the State. The safety with which it may be used, the relative inexpensiveness of it and the absence of disagreeable effects following its use have made the new explosive more popular than commercial dynamite with many farmers, Mr. Boyd said.

One pound of picric acid which will cost Kentucky farmers about 10 cents will do the work of a little more than 18 cents worth of commercial dynamite in stump blasting while the saving which can be made in rock blasting by its use is even greater, Mr. Boyd said. One foot of ditch may be blasted in ordinary soil at a cost about 21 cents with picric acid while the same operation would cost about 33 cents when commercial dynamite was used, the specialist stated.

Information concerning the method of ordering and the cost of the acid to Kentucky farmers as well as details of the method of using it may be obtained by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

New Bulletin On Smuts Available For Farmers

A number of copies of Farmers' Bulletin 939 dealing with the cereal smuts and method of treating them to prevent crop injury have been received by the Experiment Station at Lexington for free distribution to farmers of the State, according to an announcement. The bulletins contain details of the method of treating wheat and other grains to control loose and stinking smuts which have caused serious damage to these crops in Kentucky. Farmers who wish to treat their grain before planting it will find the bulletin helpful in carrying out the process, according to W. D. Valleau, the station plant pathologist.

Short Course Means Of Training Future Farmer

While some city cousins and boys and girls from the farm are returning to college for another year of study many other farm boys are planning to take the winter courses which start at the College of Agriculture at Lexington, Oct. 31 and continue until Feb. 25, 1922, inquiries being received at the college indicate. The course will be divided into two terms the first consisting of seven weeks before the holidays.

These short courses are becoming more and more popular with farm boys as a means of obtaining training during slack seasons of the year as shown by the fact that last year more than 90 students were enrolled in the course, the largest enrollment ever recorded since the courses were started. "There never was a time when it was so necessary as now for farmers to have good training for their work," Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the college, said in speaking of the popularity of the courses. "The high prices of land, labor, machinery, farm equipment and farm power make it imperative that the farmer do his work in the most efficient manner. The surest foundation for efficiency is training such as that given in the short courses."

A number of different subjects will be taught in the short course which may be entered by any resident of the State who has reached the age of 17 years. Since the courses are essentially practical no entrance examinations will be required for entrance and students will be permitted to select those subjects in which they are most interested or in which they feel the greatest need for instruction.

Instruction will be given in agronomy, animal husbandry, economic entomology, farm economics and horticulture. Agronomy subjects will include soil fertility, soil physics and management, farm crops plant diseases, gas engines, gas tractors and hygiene and sanitation. Animal husbandry subjects will include those on breeds of livestock and judging, principles of feeding, livestock feeding, beef production, sheep and pork production, breeding, farm poultry production, dis-dairy manufacturing, farm butchering, farm poultry production, diseases of livestock and a judging contest. Farm economics subjects will include a study of the farmers' relation to society, farm management, marketing and co-operative marketing. The home orchard and fruit garden and the farm vegetable garden will be studied under the subject of horticulture.

Rye Cover Crop Protects Tobacco Field Fertility

Nearly one-half million acres of Kentucky tobacco land, the richest in the State, will be depleted of their fertility during the coming winter unless rye or some other crop is sown as soon as the tobacco crop is removed to protect the soil during the winter from erosion and leaching, crops specialists at the College of Agriculture say. Rye sown at the rate of one bushel an acre as soon as the tobacco is removed makes a good protection for the soil while a still better cover crop may be obtained by adding 20 pounds of vetch seed to each bushel of rye and sowing this mixture at the rate of one bushel and 20 pounds an acre. The combination will make not only a soil saver but also a green manure to plow under next April for soil improvement.

The tobacco field in general is prepared and tilled as carefully as the garden, the specialists say, with the result that little grass or weeds have an opportunity of growing on them. In the fall of the year these fields are mellow and clean and as soon as the tobacco is removed are smooth surfaces where fall and winter rains start rivulets that later grow into gullies which remove the fertile surface. Losses of this kind are among the heaviest ones suffered by farmers of the State, according to the specialists.

Poultry Pests Are Most Serious In Fall Season

At this season of the year nothing retards the development of pullets more seriously and reduces the production of mature hens more rapidly than lice and mites, according to poultry specialists at the College of Agriculture. The body lice found on poultry can be readily controlled by rubbing a piece of blue ointment the size of a navy bean on the skin of the fowls about an inch below the vent the specialists say. Care should be taken to see that the rooster is not overlooked for one male bird which retains these pests can reinfest the entire flock in a few days.

Sodium fluoride also may be used to control the lice if a pinch is placed on the skin under each wing, on the neck, on the breast, on each thigh and in the fluff below the vent. The bird should be held upside down and the material placed next the skin if it is to accomplish the desired results. Cleaning the poultry house and spraying it thoroughly with a five per cent solution of crude oil or stock dip will be helpful in killing the mites that hide in the crevices and cracks. The roosts should be painted with a full strength solution early in the morning so that they will be dry by roosting time.

Boone Farmers Will Test And Raise Value Of Cows

As a further step in increasing the value of their herds seven Boone county farmers who are owners of high producing animals have become members of the Campbell-Boone County Co-operative Cow Testing Association and will place their cows on official test for register-of-merit records according to a report of E. M. Prewitt, dairy extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Boone county is recognized as one of the best dairy counties in Kentucky, dairy specialists say, but the dairymen realize that they cannot command the highest prices for their animals until they have an official test of them and know what their milk and butterfat records are. By becoming members of the local cow testing association they will be able to obtain these records. Boone county farmers won more than $700 in cash prizes on their dairy exhibits at the State Fair, according to Mr. Prewitt.

Farmers To Determine Best Wheat Varieties

In order to determine the best varieties of wheat for different sections of Kentucky 47 farmers in 18 counties of the State are starting wheat variety demonstrations this fall in co-operation with their county agents and the extension division of the College of Agriculture. The demonstrations are scattered from Fulton to Boyd and from Carroll to Todd counties being located in Fulton Ballard, Livingston, Crittenden, Todd, Muhlenburg, Hopkins, Webster, Henderson, Warren, Hart, Taylor, Marion, Washington, Pulaski, Carroll Campbell and Boyd counties. This is the first year that demonstrations of this kind have been conducted, according to crops specialists of the college.

The varieties used in the demonstrations will include Ashland, the new variety developed at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and the highest yielder there, Kanred, the famous hard wheat from Kansas, Fulcaster and Currell's Prolific. These will be grown and harvested with a portion of the crop from the variety grown in each section. It is expected that the leading variety for each section of the State can be selected after from three to five years of this work.

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

Morgan county farmers are giving special attention to poultry culling, according to a report of County Agent R. B. Rankin. More than 35 of them were taught the method of distinguishing between the layers and loafers in their flocks by attending three demonstrations recently held in the county.

Fulton county farmers will give more attention to orcharding in an effort to increase their farm profits, according to reports coming from the county. Ten model home orchards will be planted this fall under the direction of O. L. Cunningham, county agent, while 15 farmers will prune and spray their orchards according to recommendations made by the extension division of the College of Agriculture.

Farmers in the Parksville community, Boyle county, co-operating with County Agent C. L. Taylor are planning to organize a farmers' club in order to carry out a program of community development. Ten charter members of the club will start lines of work designed to improve agricultural conditions in that section.

The movement to replace scrub sires with purebred ones is progressing rapidly in Oldham county, according to a report of County Agent G. B. Nance. A majority of the farmers have agreed to use nothing but purebred sires in all their breeding work.

Eleven members of the Clay county pig club have received their animals and started to develop them as their club project, according to a report of County Agent Thomas Keith. Those who have received pigs include John Johnson, David Turner, Lowell Massey, Mayme Garland, William Johnson, Elizabeth Cress, Owen Brigmon, Mildred Brigmon, Myrtle Brigmon, Emma J. Hagan and Homer Jackson.

Culling was the means of removing 12 loafer hens from the flock of Mrs. R. H. Elder, Crittenden county, according to a report of County Agent John R. Spencer. Six days after the culling the 12 hens had not produced an egg.

Why is an editor? Merely to make a living for himself? Perhaps that is the sole purpose of some. But nine cases out of ten he has a definite feeling of responsibility toward his community and wants his paper to be as helpful to all the people as his ability and the money return he receives on his investment and for his own thought and labor will permit.

HORSE BRANCH

Oct. 9.—If not asking too much of you I would like to have a little space in your paper this week.

Horse Branch is still coming to the front in the way of building. Mr. E. Peyton has just completed a new building on his lot. Mr. Geo. Coombs has his residence near the depot nearly finished. Mr. John Leach will commence building a barn this coming week. Mr. Sherman Easell will build an addition to his store house.

Mr. Walker Myrtle is still very ill, and James Miller is still bad with but little improvement.

Mr. Charley Carden, candidate for Sheriff on the Democratic ticket is certainly a good hustler. The beauty of it with Mr. Carden, he never fails to shake hands with all Republicans as well as Democrats.

I think the laboring man can very plainly see which party it is that works to his interests. While Woodrow Wilson was president you did not hear the cry of the poor man about hard times. But look now, under the present administration, the poor man is out of work and there is a general cry of "hard times." The country is full of hungry men, women and children. There are more beggars at your kitchen door than was ever known before. There were two gentlemen in Horse Branch this last week on the hunt of work. They had been at work on a timber job in the South. They said the company had shut every mill down and turned their hands off and one of the men said he asked the manager how long he would be shut down and he replied "Well, I cannot tell anything about it. Times will have to get better than they are now." Why didn't they close under Woodrow Wilson's administration? Times were too good for mills and factories to close. There was too much money in sight for them.

Never before in the history of the country were there so many idle men and so many begging for something to eat. It's something new to see a man at our kitchen door begging for meat and bread. The rich man is all right but what is the poor man going to do? No work to perform. No money with which to buy. Quite a contrast in the two administrations, indeed.

Mr. W. O. Read and family will move to Dawson Springs about the 15th inst. We will lose a good neighbor. He was the main prop of the church and school here. He sold his property here to Mr. Ebit, of Paducah, Ky. He takes Mr. Read's place as engineer on the Owensboro branch.

Mr. Stocke, of Memphis, Tenn., visited his family last week, returning Tuesday. He is keeping up telephone lines from Central City and makes his headquarters at Horse Branch.

Among the witnesses called in a trial in a Southern court was an old dorky.

"Do you swear that what you tell shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?" intoned the clerk.

"Well, sah," returned the witness, shifting uneasily. "Dis lawyer gemmun kin make it a pow'ful lot easier on hisself an' relieve me of a mighty big strain of he'll leave out anything about gin an' chickens. 'Ceptin' to dose. Ah guess Ah kin stick to de truth."

Abundant Occupation. "Speakin' of unemployment," said Farmer Cornstossel "I have my doubts about whether there is near as much of it has been represented."

"I spose," commented his wife, with a shade of sarcasm, "you know more about it than the people who get up the statistics."

"Statistics are all what I'm recin' my opinion on. Nearly every family in the country now has an automobile, and anybody that ever tried to keep a silver in running' order knows as well as you an' me that idle moments is mighty scarce."
